Part of our community – Bringing you more of your world!

JANUARY 2001

Janet Herring-Sherman

“I enjoy working with a group of people so dedicated to helping readers understand what’s happening in our corner of the world as well as places far away,” says Janet Herring-Sherman, our January Employee of the Month. “The teams of people in the newsroom are determined to get at the truth and offer up accurate information for readers. People here are intent on ‘getting it right.’ I like knowing I contribute to that.”

Here at The Press Democrat, Janet works in our Newsroom, acting as a Chief Editorial Assistant. “I have been fascinated by words and how they are used since I wrote my first essay. I majored in journalism at Cal Poly and hoped I might work here one day.” Co-workers and supervisors agree, Janet and her “fascination with words” have become a strong asset to the Newsroom.

Thank you Janet, for your dedication and hard work at The Press Democrat!
